

Konrad Lewandowski

I am a former soldier with a seven year history of military service. Over the years I have acquired many traits that have shaped me to be a. Immunity to stress, determination in goal achievement, professionalism and availability are only few of my positive qualities. For the past year I have focused on building and expanding my skills in the field of web development. Front-end, back-end, data bases and external API's are some of the topics I have made myself familiar with. I would gladly become a part of a team of developers, from whom I can learn and further expand my abilities while working to achieve common objectives.
